Postdoctoral Scholar in Nursing

College of Health and Human Services
Department: Nursing

Description: The Department of Nursing at UNH is offering a two-year postdoctoral position. The Postdoctoral Scholar will establish a research agenda through working closely with nursing faculty to conduct academic research in an area such as harm reduction related to opioid use disorder, parental and family stress and coping, sexual and reproductive health, interprofessional team development, diagnostic reasoning, overdiagnosis/ overtreatment, or interprofessional team development. The postdoctoral fellow will be granted a research budget that may be augmented with external funding or university grants.

Professional development will be provided through participation in faculty development opportunities with early career faculty, senior faculty coaching, involvement in department activities, and support funds. Responsibilities will include teaching one course annually.